About the Conference

International Value Management Conference is a biennial event organized by the Hong Kong Institute of Value Management ("HKIVM"). With the global urge to attend to the need of sustainable development through partnering approach, this year's conference main theme also sets the framework to explore the topic of "Achieving sustainable value through collaboration".

Taking advantage of Hong Kong's status as an international city and also its proximity to the PRC, participants from all over the world will be attracted to the Conference. The 9th International Value Management (VM) Conference will include an interactive workshop session, which will definitely help participants from different professions to master concepts behind VM and how to put them into practical use.

About Hong Kong

Hong Kong Special Administrative Region is one of the two special administrative regions of the People's Republic of China (PRC). Beginning as a trading port in the 19th century, Hong Kong has developed into a leading financial centre where skyscrapers and shopping malls are everywhere. Renowned as one of the world's most sophisticated cities, Hong Kong is also a place where contains Eastern and Western cultural influences. The old and the new meet at every myths and legends inhabit mountain peaks, urban area and wooded valleys. For more information, please visit: www.discoverhongkong.com
