Career Talk to PolyU SPEED Surveying Students

YSG has been doing its best to reach out to surveying students by sharing the paths they could take towards becoming surveyors. It delivered a career talk to students at the School of Professional Education and Executive Development (SPEED) of the Hong Kong Polytechnic University (PolyU) at its Hung Hom Bay Campus and online on 16 July.

The talk started with an introduction to the HKIS and job duties of the various surveying disciplines. YSG committee members from each discipline introduced the core competencies and shared their work experiences as surveyors in their respective disciplines. They also shared the career paths of and prospects for future surveyors.

The follow-up Q&A session was very fruitful, as the students showed their interest in the industry and possible future careers. Some even raised concerns and received feedback from committee members.

I thank all YSG committee members and participants for attending this event. YSG will continue to stay connected with young surveying professionals and students. Please stay tuned for more exciting events ahead and continue to support YSG! Should you have any great idea that you want to share with YSG, please don't hesitate to contact us!
